

Language Arts Journal

Each week you will be given a journal entry to complete. This entry is to help you record your ideas, thoughts, questions, and impressions that come to mind when you read the question. You will keep your journal in your English Binder. It's important that you date each journal entry with the date the question was given to you. The question will be given on Monday and you will have until Friday to complete your response. I will be grading them on effort and ideas expressed. You must complete at least seven entries per quarter. The reason for doing journals is to help you with writing assignments. So this means put a great deal of thought and ideas into them.
